IN AN ENGLISH VILLAGE LIBRARY

"But I believe that occasional Americans are quite educated."

The rector's wife hesitated. "Yes, there must be some education among them, of course. But the influence of American literature is certainly most pernicious. Their authors are always trying to be funny—merely comic writers."

"But Hawthorne, Emerson and Longfellow," ventured the Fattile Librarian, "are not always funny!"

The rector's wife heaved a sigh wearily, as of a serious-minded but very patient person annoyed by foolish questions. "I am not familiar with their more obscure writers, but the other day I bought a book quite famous, in America, 'Innocents Abroad.' I naturally supposed from the title it was the travels of children for instruction. After presenting it to my little daughters I found it to be a most offensive book, showing extraordinary ignorance, very silly, and sacrilegious."

"Oh, fancy!" and the Fattile Librarian closed her eyes in heartfelt sympathy. "Who wrote it?"

"I am not absolutely sure," replied the rector's wife. Then, frowning in a mental effort, "Could it have been Abraham Lincoln? He was a humorous person."

"If it's a bad book," said Octavia, "he did not write it."

"I am not so sure. He was a most contemptible character."

"Abraham Lincoln?"

"Yes. I was reading about him recently—a perfectly impartial account written by a Charleston lady during their Civil War. She certainly knew, and she says repeatedly that he was a most offensive person of the lowest origin; vulgar, boorish, silly and ignorant. He became despotic and blood-thirsty. And he was rife in conversation."—From J. A. Mitchell's "Pandora's Box."

served on her recent visit to London, and also of the work being done here.

After the election of officers, refreshments were served on the lanai. The following is the list of officers: President, Mrs. J. M. Whitney. First vice president, Mrs. Doremus Seudder.

Second vice president, Mrs. R. Elmer Smith. Third vice president, Mrs. W. C. Weedon.

Recording secretary, Miss Florence Yarrow. Corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. W. Judd.

Treasurer, Mrs. L. B. Coan. Miss Carrie Gilman presented the organization with $100 in memory of her mother.

Several appropriations were made towards the betterment of conditions in various places in the community.

Miss Drummond, vice president and superintendent of state temperance instruction of California, was a visiting member.

Mrs. John M. Ellicott, who has been visiting Admiral and Mrs. Walter Cowles in Honolulu, will reach here in November and join Captain Ellicott and Miss Ellicott at Mare Island.—S. F. Chronicle.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hough and Miss Helen Hough of Stockton are making a brief visit in town and are at the Victoria during their stay. Miss Hough's marriage to Percy Cleghorn of Honolulu is to be one of the November events of social importance for which cards will soon be sent out by the mother of the bride-elect.—S. F. Chronicle.

ASTOR AND BRIDE WERE IN PERIL

BOSTON, (Mass.), October 10.—Fred Allen and George Gregory, both well-known manufacturers of Lynn, returned from Bermuda and tell of how they rescued Colonel John Jacob Astor and his bride, formerly Miss Madeline Force, when the latter were in peril in a disabled power boat.

Allen and Gregory were making a power-boat trip around the island. At a point some miles off the coast they sighted another power boat laboring badly among the waves and apparently in distress. They made toward the disabled craft and offered their assistance, which was accepted. The boat proved to be a launch of Colonel Astor's yacht, Naoma, on which he is making his honeymoon trip. The Lynn men and their host threw a line abroad and the launch, with the Colonel his bride abroad, was towed to safety.

WORTH TWENTY TIMES ITS COST.

One bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy goes a long way toward relieving suffering humanity. It is better than any doctor's prescription, and worth twenty times its cost in cases of diarrhoea, cramp colic or dysentery, which are liable to come on suddenly at this season of the year. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

"Would you say the Presidency or the Judiciary is the noblest institution in the land?" asked the interrogative person. "Without intending to cast a slur on either the Presidency or the Judiciary," answered the opinionated person. "I should say that paydays holds that enviable eminence."—Buffalo Express.

PLANS FOR HAWAII

furnish the specimens of fish for a Hawaii section in the large aquarium. President Moore states that he would be only too glad to see that we get a most desirable location and that our wonderfully colored and queerly shaped fish are specially featured. Inasmuch as their aquarium is to be a permanent affair, I would certainly advise a Hawaii section in it rather than a special aquarium attached to our own building, which will have to be abandoned at the close of the exposition.

I found the office staff of the exposition management most courteous and obliging, all of them deeply interested in Hawaii. Mr. Frank L. Brown, chairman of the committee on publicity, with whom I had several conferences, instructed the chief of their bureau to favor Hawaii in every way possible in sending out stories concerning the exposition. Through the liberality of the Hawaii Promotion Committee I was enabled to leave with the chief of the bureau a special collection of Hawaiian photographs, some two hundred in number, also a full line of descriptive matter, as well as several volumes pertaining to Hawaii, with which material the bureau is now able to give Hawaii special consideration. Mats will be made of many of our photographs to send out with stories pertaining to the islands, the slogan suggested and adopted being "Upon arrival at San Francisco, turn to the left and go to Hawaii."

Hawaiian Room Provided.

The first of this month the exposition company moved into its new and permanent offices at the corner of Battery and Pine streets, where, at my request, they have assigned a room to Hawaii. For this room I shall forward enlarged photographs and maps. I will also see that files of our daily papers are kept there in order that Hawaiians visiting San Francisco between now and the opening of the exposition may feel that they have a place to go where they can find the latest news from home. The exposition management has promised me to secure the services of some Hawaiian youth as an assistant in the bureau of publicity—to be paid out of their regular funds—who will be placed in immediate charge of the Hawaii booth, which the Hawaii Promotion Committee will see is liberally supplied with folders and other advertising matter.

As soon as a definite date can be depended upon for holding a special meeting of the commission the chairman of the sub-committees on agriculture, education, etc., will be requested to meet with the commission for a general consultation and further outlining of plans.

In conclusion, permit me to say that in my opinion the outlook favors the most complete, unique and interesting exhibit of Hawaii that has ever been presented to the public. I have other suggestions to offer which I will present later. Respectfully yours,
H. P. WOOD, Chairman.
